

Gunner

Gunner is FRC's Official Mascot and Head of Security. He is an unusually large, mostly Husky mix, with just a touch of Wolf thrown in for good measure.

Gunner comes to FRC from the mean streets of Houston, Texas where he undoubtedly struck fear into the iniquitous and unrighteous ... and probably a lot of cats too. How he managed to get all the way to Baton Rouge is anybody's guess. But I digress.

One evening while strolling along South Choctaw, locked in deep thought, his weighty self-reflection was rudely interrupted by the sounds of gunfire coming from afar. Unlike so many a timid cur, the brave and gallant Gunner turned abruptly toward the sound of the guns and strode confidently forward into the waiting arms of the FRC Instructor Staff. He has been with us ever since.

Gunner is at once an affable and courteous old gentleman as well as a tenacious and unfailing guardian. He keeps watch over our gates and patrols our corridors with a sturdy heart ... a terror to the wayward, but a friend to all that is good. He is a delight to young and old alike, and he symbolizes everything that is best in FRC and its people. He is an essential member of our family, and we hope you will fall for him as hard as we did.
